Junior-Senior Prom

The "Johnston Chaperon," an excursion boat from Cincinnati, was the scene of the Junior-Senior Prom which was held on April 19.

The "Chaperon" cruised up the Ohio with approximately 150 couples aboard. "The Clarions" provided the music for the swingers and romantic-minded couples.

Escorts and dates ascend to the second deck where the dancing took place.

Caution had to be taken while boarding the cruiser.

The dance floor was always crowded with T.C.H.S. students and dates.

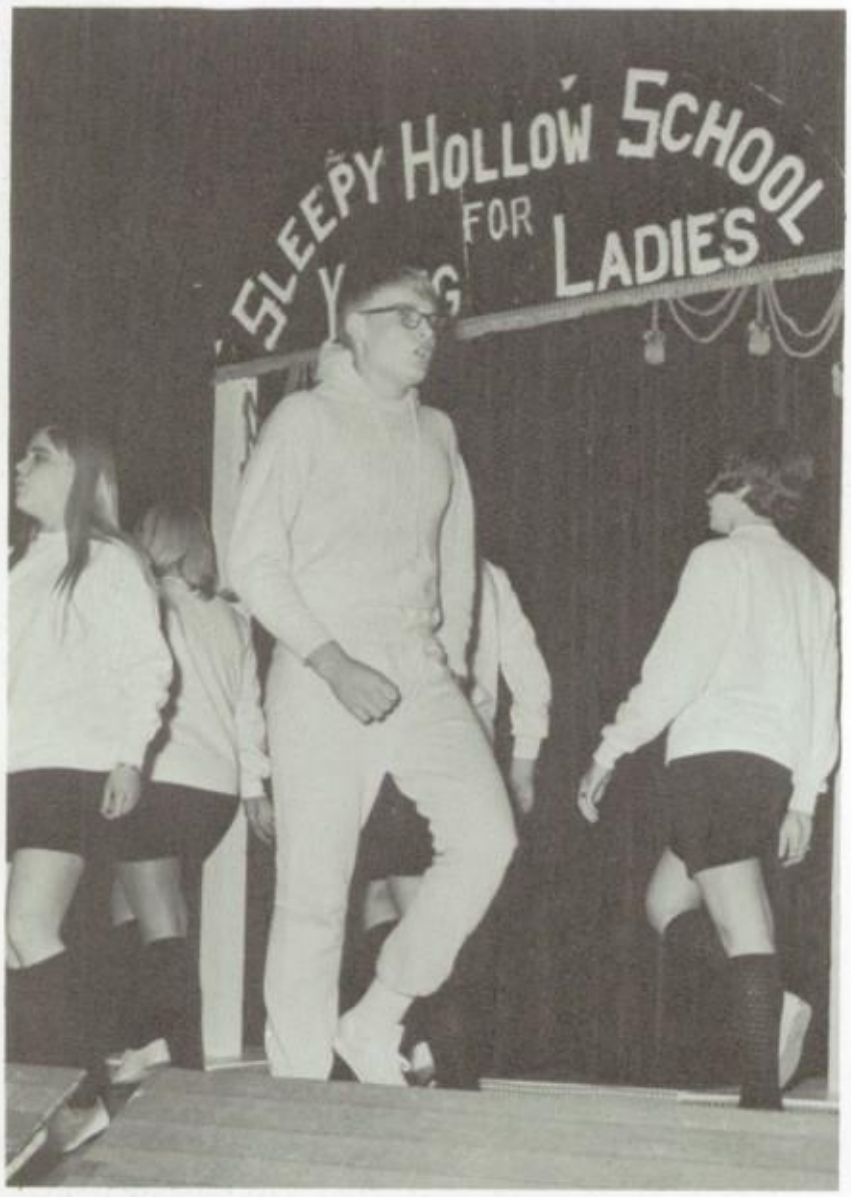
T.C.H.S. Musical



Bruce Riddle directs the physical education program for the Sleepy Hollow girls.

Brenda Hassler is receiving her make-up for opening night.

On Thursday and Friday, March 7th & 8th, the Music Dept., under the direction of Mr. Frank Pasteur, presented our first musical "Mr. Crane and the Legend of Sleepy Hollow."

The musical was a present day account of Sleepy Hollow with flashback scenes into the old legend. The plot was built around Sleepy Hollow School for Young Ladies and the Hudson Academy for young men.

Bruce Riddle received the award for the "Outstanding Player" and Russell Crossley and Becky Schneider were awarded plaques for their untiring efforts to make the musical a success, which it certainly was.

Stars; Betty Macon and Bill Graves

The entire cast of the first musical presented at Tell City worked long hours after the auditions on November 18 to make this Music Dept. endeavor a complete success.

Bill Graves, Ike Crane, teaches his students the art of dancing.

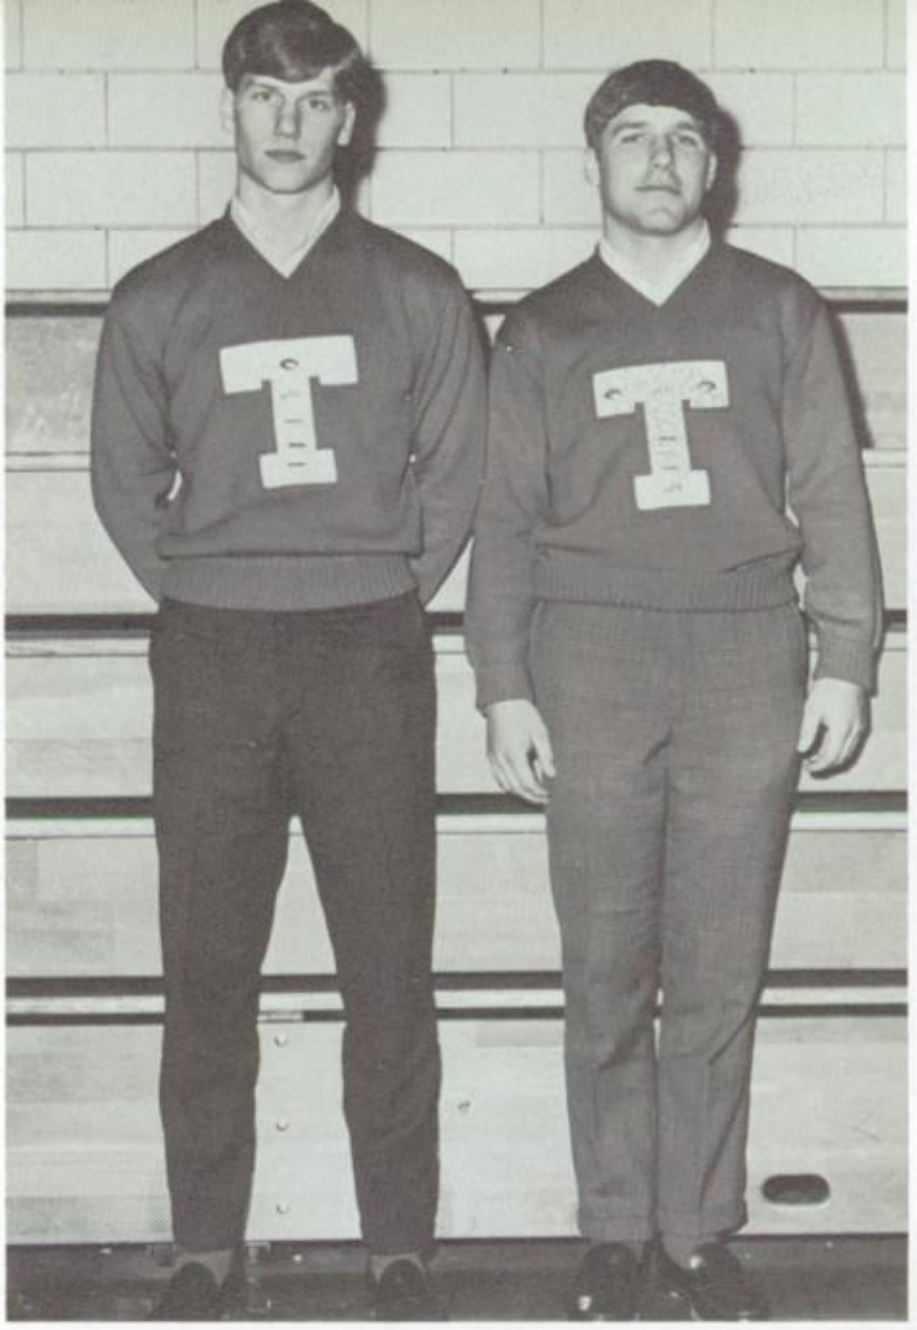
Gridiron Season

The T.C.H.S. football squad experienced a rebuilding year with injuries and lack of upperclass leadership uniting to thwart the team's ability to put forth its full force.

With only five experienced varsity players returning and injuries sustained by fullback Mike Malone and co-captain Jon David LeClere, the team was not able to formulate the necessary leadership for a powerful winning drive throughout the season.



Co-Captains, Rick Buckmaster and Jon David LeClere.

We're Proud of Our Team

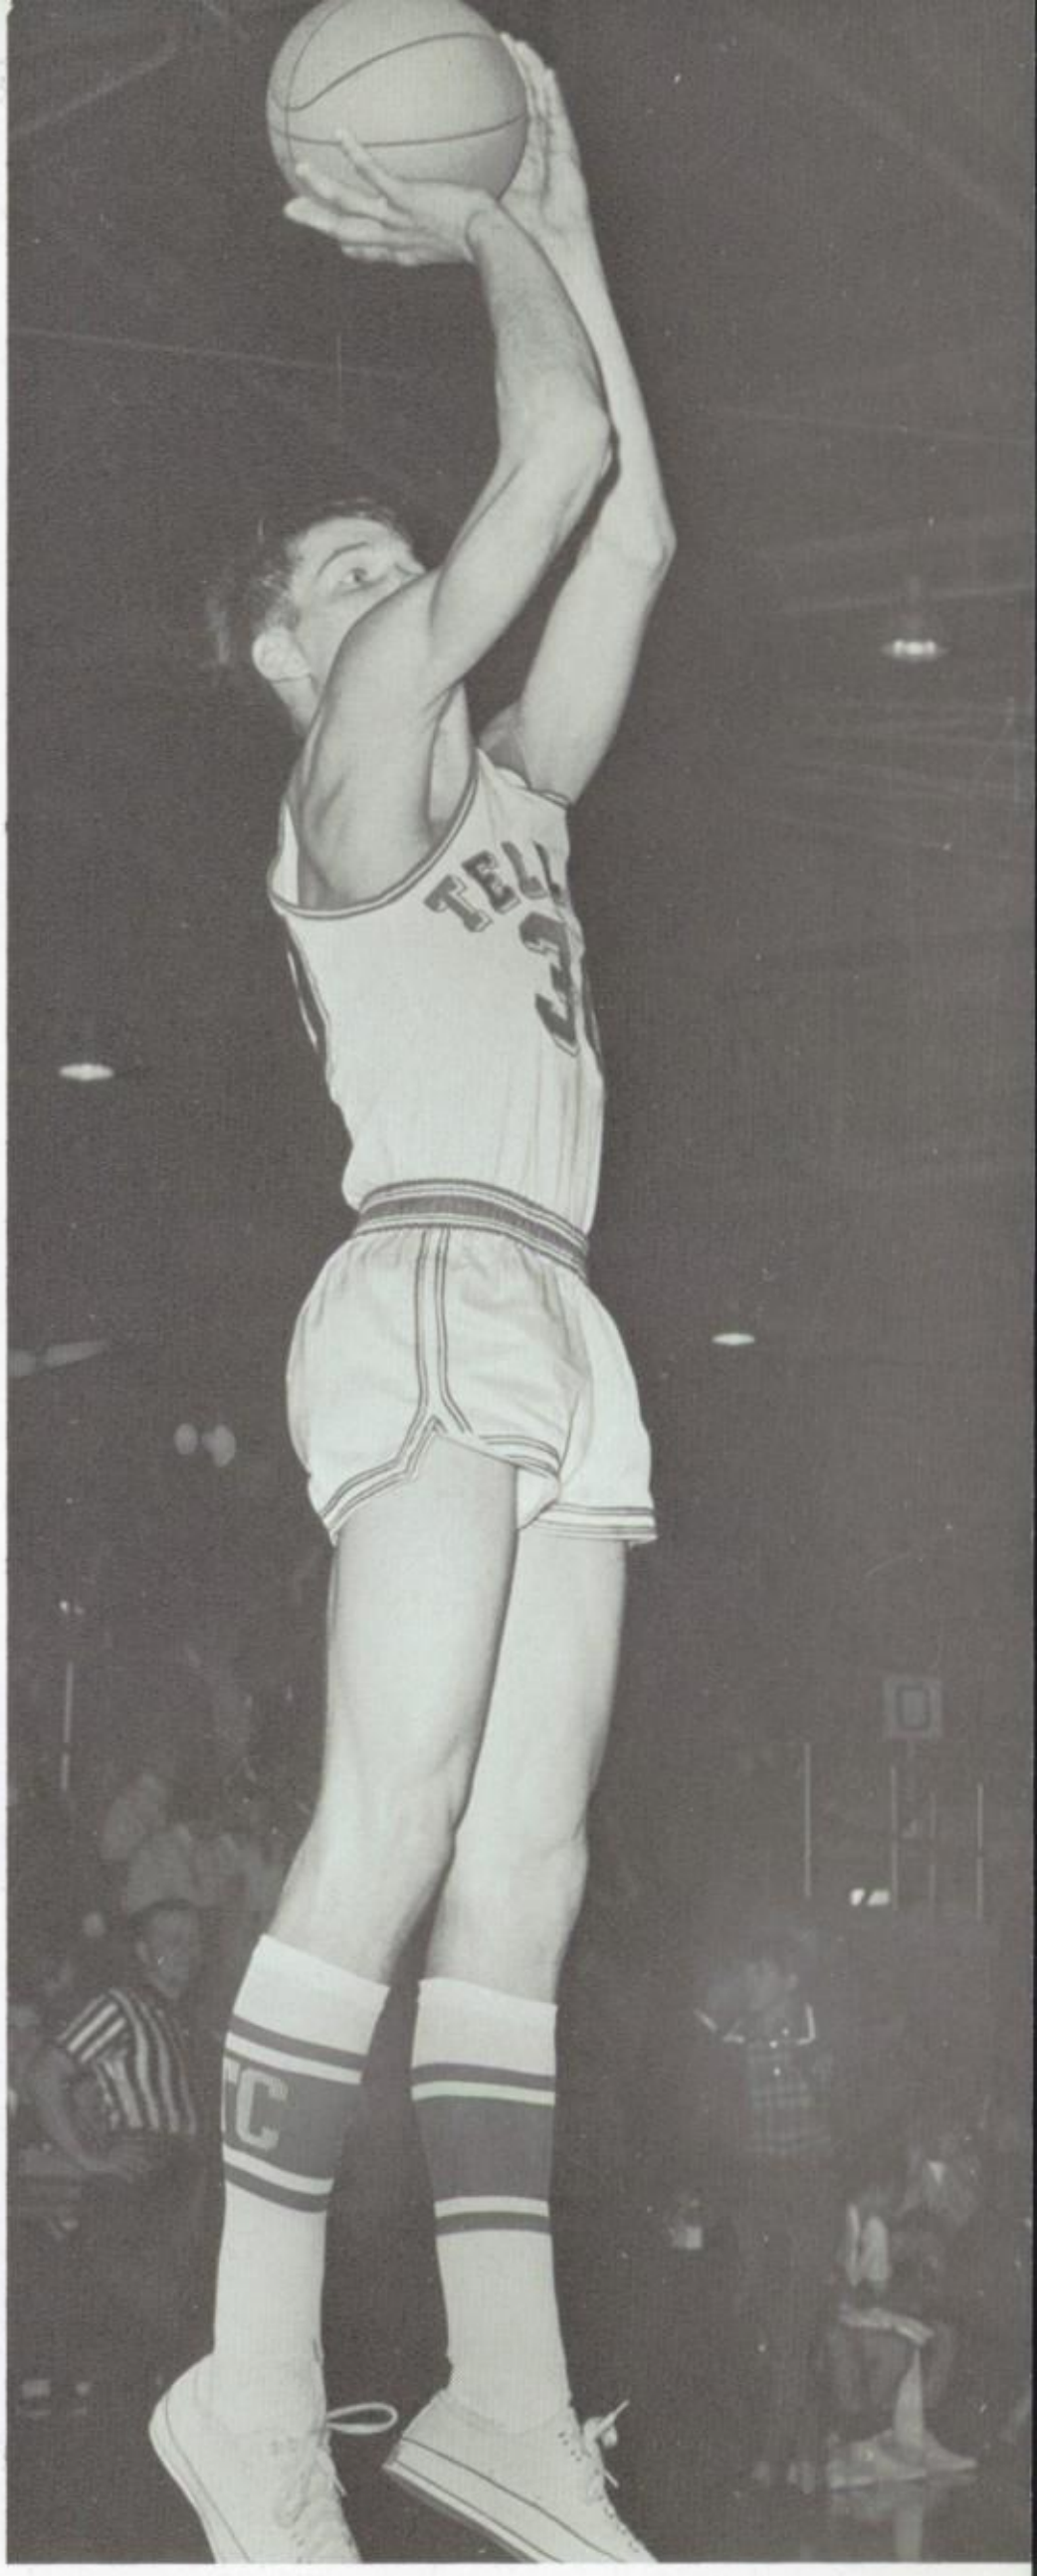
The 1967-68 basketball season for Tell City proved to be highly successful. Our Marksmen compiled a fine 16-8 record.

T.C.H.S. opened the season with three consecutive wins. Our first loss came at the hands of Ferdinand. Following this loss, the Marksmen knocked off No. 1 ranked Evansville North.

Tell City was host in the Christmas Holiday Tournament, but was defeated by a powerful Leavenworth ball club. However, the Marksmen went on to capture their own sectional by downing Perry Central, Milltown, and Cannelton.

Fresh from a sectional victory, the Marksmen traveled to Evansville where they were defeated by highly favored Reitz in the first game of the regional play-offs.

Coach Lochmueller discusses strategy with some members of the varsity squad.



Walter Hagedorn, All-Conference team member, assisted the team many times in their bid for victory with his jump shot.

Biology

Biology has always been an interesting subject. It is one of the few classes students may leave school to go on field trips to learn more about our resources. Joseph Bruggenschmidt, a consultant forester, has been instructing these informative trips for the past 6 years in Fenn's Woods.

In addition to the basic course, an advanced course in biology is also offered. The formation of a bug collection is the highlight of the advanced biology course.

Mr. Bruggenschmidt discusses ecology and plant life with first year biology students.

Journalistic Talents Develop

The 1967-68 "Marksman" was the first printed paper at T.C.H.S. since 1951. In this paper was included pictures, current events, humorous columns, and full coverage of all sports activities.

The printed editions of the paper allowed the students to put their theoretical knowledge to practical use and to see its results.

Local advertising was employed in order to defray the costs of publishing this new endeavor for the journalism department.

The paper progressed slowly with only four pages, but rapidly increased to six after its welcome reception by the student body and faculty.

With the assistance of the new journalism instructor, Mr. McCartin, and the fine staff, the "Marksman" was a success with high hopes for the future.

Languages

The language department of T.C.H.S. installed new language laboratories this school year. This change has been under consideration for several years. The ever increasing enrollment in foreign language classes, students now numbering more than 300, made the purchase of the new equipment almost mandatory.

Funds for the facilities became available through the National Defense Education Act. Two classroom facilities have been equipped.

Twelve classes were thus provided with the opportunity to hear recordings and tapes made by native speakers of the language. This allows the foreign language student to increase his ability to understand and to speak the language.

These language students listen to recordings of native speakers.

Juniors Soar Toward Top

The Juniors, who have 185 students in their number, are looking forward to assuming their responsibilities as senior leaders of T.C.H.S.

Leadership duties came their way on Nov. 10 when the Junior Class presented for the entertainment of the student body and faculty the Junior Carnival. The purpose of the event was to raise funds for the prom. The long and hard efforts of the class paid off well and the carnival was a financial success.

Several dances were sponsored by the class, but all activities were conducted in the hope of a successful Junior-Senior Prom. The prom was held on Friday, April 19 on the "Johnston Chaperon" cruiser. This was the first time in six years a prom was held on a boat.
